acting such other proper business as may come to the Canyenthoid. e Union Republican Patty of the State is re-red to appoint delegates to said Convention from arrious consults, at such time and its such man-ariany be convenient to the people of the her-spinder.

I voters of the State, without regard to past reters of the State, without regard to past difference, or party affiliations, who are in such charges in our Genefittition and laws rience has shown necessary, and favor reneut and economy in the administration of the affairs, and the punishment of official ion, are cordially invifed to participate in County and State Conventions.
rder of the State; Union Regulation Execumunities. JOHN W. MASON, PTON, W. VA., June 1, 1876. Chairman.

Col. Ben and John Hansen.

We observe that both of the Wetzel unty papers notice the presence at their Good, who is down there seeing what he can see as respects his chances for Conand evidently intent on setting up things to beat Col. Ben at the forthco ing nominating convention. The Visidi-cutor wishes John Hanson success in the object of his mission, and the Messenger also has a good word to say for him. speaks of him as "a young man of decided ability, whose course in the impeachment trials last wintergained him many friends in this part of the State. "Simultaneously" with these complimentary remarks about John Hanson appears the following article about Col. Ben, in the shape of a communication in the Messenger:

Hanson appears the e about Col. Ben, in the shape of mununication in the Messenger:

so years ago Col. Wilson promised uild a railroad up the creek, and by and similar promises obtained the port of Wetzel county. During the tession of Congress he wrote to perse in this county that he had introced a bill to allow farmers to distill circ own grain and fruit without tax, he reason I mention these things now to inquire of your Democratic readers shether they are going to be guiled again by such promises? and whether a man who thinks us such fools as to bite at such baits, is entitled to our support? The Colonel is a fine man, but such election-eering tricks are rather transparent.

This is not the first time we have heard the charge made against Col. Ben of thus deluding his Wetzel county followers with false promises about a railroad, but we have never seen the distilling matter alluded to before. There is something that they were going to make a that it appears in the constitution of the United States does not acknowledge that God is the sutton (of the Written Constitution of the United States does not acknowledge that God is the sutton (of civil).

subject. We always knew that the old Colonel was a "heathen Chinee" in politics, and up to every game that could possibly win votes, but really we did no suspect him for fooling with his unsophis ticated friends in Wetzel in so serious matter as their whisky. The Fat Contributor tells of a good natured Gesman who was always ready to forgive the "boys" who frequented his saloon all sorts of tricks played on him except one, and that one always made him "bilin mad"-in fact perfectly farious, viz., when the boys, when his back was turned, would pour water in his glass of beer. As he himself expressed it, "dere's no brincible in dot," So we say to Col. Ben on behalf of these poor Wetzel county people, "dere's no brincible" in fooling with them in a matter so dear to their hearts as their bitters.

We therefore advise John Hanson to make good use of this lack of "brincible"

on Col. Ben's part, and by the aid of it work up a public feeling in Wetzel that will manifest itself in the convention.

PARKERSHURG, W. VA., June 29.—The nomination of Tilden iell upon this community like a fire ball at night, and spread consternation and dismay throughout the Democratic party. The Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee and Democratic Executive Committee and hundreds of good and true members of the party repudiate Tilden and demand another convention, one that cannot be purchased by the bondholders. Let us have another convention. Give us Allen or Pendleton or Ewing, and the victory will surely be ours. Don't bow the knee to Baal. With Tilden as our standard-bearer the Radicals will sweep West Virginia, and we look to you for help in this our sorest trial.

This disnated no doubt expresses the

This dispatch no doubt expresses the This dispatch no doubt expresses the real feelings of very many West Virginia Democrats—even of some here in Wheeling who hide their "true inwardness" under an ill-affected guise of satisfaction, had been procured at Wheeling and plac- lust arriving and for sale low by List, DAVESTORT & PARKE.

The West Virginia delegation to St. Louis voted all the time in perfect accordance with the spirit of the above dispatch—that is, they voted for Bill Allen, the inflationist, and against the piatform adopted at St. Louis. West Virginia did not cast a vote for the St. Louis does not be succeeded in getting their gun to fire several about the piatform. All the spirit of the St. Louis candidate or platform,—but voted for Bill Allen and Gen. Ewing's minority report. Even when this minority, report was yoteldown, the West Virginia delegates still refused to vote for the platitists. was voted down, the West Virginia delegates still refused to vote for the plat-form that was adopted. Indoing so they no doubt carried out what they knew to be the inflation views of the constituen

which we are engaged.

Allow me to answer your objections very briefly. First—"I am engaged in a hopeless task." In answer I would say that the work is progressing. I have given between twenty and thirty lectures on the subject of reform, and the people where I go to lecture, as a general thing, give good attention. We have appointed about one hundred delegates within a distance of sixty miles from our place, to attend the National Convention at Philadelphia, iliany of whom, I know, are now at that convention. I have met with very little opposition, and what I did meet with arose more from the fact that the people did not understand the subject, than from any disposition to oppose the movement. It is not many years since the reform movement was first inaugurated. From a very few it has grown to thousands and hundreds of thousands. Among the friends of this reform we find many honorable and honored name, without any regard to-church of party—such men as Bishop Simpson, of the M. E. Church; Henry Green, D. D., Solomon Pool, D. D., of North Carolina. We find men of all political parties among the friends of this reform. We are much encouraged, because where the cause has been presented in the proper way, the sympathies of the people have been enlisted. In this way the cause is becoming more and more popular. So'we think, with the blessing of God upon our work, we are not engaged in a hopeless task.

The second objection which you mention is: "This is not a christian principles." The Congress of 1778 declared that "True religion and good morals are the only solid foundations of public liberty and happiness."

Gieorge Washington in his farewell and dress recorded the truth "That of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion, and morality are indispensible supports." And again he says: "Reason and experience both forbid us to expect that national morality are indispensible supports." And again he says: "Here and thrue feligious principles," and the existing feligion in the same and t stitution of the United States does not acknowledge that food is the author of civil government. The reform has forsts objects the making of the written Constitution as truly christian as the people are, the maintaining of the Bible in our common schools and also in our Sabbath schools. In short we want to harmonize the government with the Constitution.

Ohio County Grange Correspond Point Mills, June 29, 1876.

Editors of the Intelligencer

It has only been a short time since, that a committee of a co-operative society in England, the "Rochdale Association," was appointed to confer with a special committee of the Patrons of Husbandry, in regard to the propriety of conjoining those associations for their mutual benefit. The capital of this society is estimated at $7,000,000, doing an annual business of $225,000,000. In Germany, society on the same, plan has real estate to the value of $116,100," with a surplus of $20,840. The Grange-from information extended the through the courtesy of our State Secretary, capital is estimated at $19,000,000.

John Stewart Mill, after reviewing some of the successes of these societies and it is hardly possibly to take any but a hopefur view of the prespects of mankind when in the two leading committee of the world the obscure depths of society contain simple working men whose integrity, good sense, self continuand and honorable confidence in one another shall enabled them to carry these poble experiments to a triumphant is-sue. The State Secretary also permitted me to examine a letter he had received me to examine a letter he had received from a prominent member of Congress a short time sisce. I make the following extract: "I am very well aware that they (the Grange) do not constitute a political organization, and I think It is wise they do not, but as an organization their influence has already been fell. In purifying both of the political parties, and in elevating official qualifications." John P. Sheldon, of Derbyshire, England, has been deptized by our Nistonal Grange, a gentleman of zeal, culture, and advanced ideas, and will have the merit of instituting the first organization of the Patrons of Husbandry on English soil.
